THE LAY OF THE LAND

Give Blenheim the day it deserves. Start inside the palace, make lunch an occasion and leave the afternoon for the formal gardens. Woodstock is your evening option rather than another town to squeeze into the afternoon.

PALACE TO TABLE.

01

10:00 - 12:00

PALACE & CHURCHILL EXHIBITION

Begin with the Great Hall and Long Library, then the Churchill Exhibition. The architecture gives the morning its scale; the exhibition brings Churchill's connection to Blenheim into letters, photographs and personal objects.

Choose admission that includes the palace. Allow the entrance approach before the suggested 10:00 start.

LUNCH AT THE ORANGERY

Make the Orangery your lunchtime stop: tall arched windows and globe chandeliers give the meal a setting of its own. A reserved table creates a natural pause between the palace rooms and the outdoor afternoon.

Reserve the meal separately and choose a service time offered for your date. For a lighter day, replace this stop with a picnic in a permitted area.

INTO THE GARDENS

Start with the pools and stonework of the Water Terraces, then choose your garden circuit. Families can give this afternoon to the Walled Garden, maze and Butterfly House instead of a longer landscape walk. These are alternatives within the afternoon, rather than extra appointments.

13:15 - 15:30

WATER TERRACES

GOOD TO KNOW

The steep lakeside circuit is unsuitable for some wheelchairs and buggies; use the Rose Garden return where appropriate. Adventure Play has separate admission. The Italian Garden is viewing-only.

EAST COURTYARD

15:30 - 16:00

Finish in the East Courtyard, with time for the gift shop before leaving the estate. The gap before dinner is deliberate: return to your Woodstock room or spend the late afternoon in town.

Allow your exit walk as well as time in the shop. If using Woodstock Gate, leave before its published 18:30 closure.

STAY FOR SUPPER

18:30 - 20:00 / OPTIONAL

Stay in Woodstock for dinner at The Nest, inside The Feathers. The panelled room, marble tables and wicker lamps make this a distinct evening after a day on the estate. It is particularly convenient if your room is in one of Woodstock's inns.

Ordinary dinner service is Wednesday-Saturday from 18:00. Telephone to reserve; a suggested 18:30 time is not an available table. Sunday lunch is a different service and does not fit this evening plan.
